

Marina Wolf-Ahmad of Jamaica Plain, MA was selected for founding Big Moves, a non-profit organization dedicated to getting more people of all sizes into the dance studio and up on stage because “Every Body Can Dance.” Big Moves strives to educate the public and dance world about issues relating to body image and size acceptance.

Matilda St. John, who nominated Marina says, “Whether she’s in front of a mainstream ballet event, handing out promotional materials in her famous tutu or encouraging voluptuous vixens to shake what they’ve got in her exotic dancing 101 class, Marina’s tail-feathers are always moving, and watching is inspirational.”
